

to a WOMEN OF SUBSTANCE

Today, I cannot resist myself anymore, I am pouring my heart out! I learned a biggest lesson, to respect women for what transformation they can to bring in one's life.

Years have passed with that first glimpse; I can still see you in that Pink.

I know time, distance has not faded the intensity of attraction between the souls. I catch your pulse and you do mine, day or night does not matter, neither spring nor fall.

An unending sweet feeling is still cherishes me every day.

Your childishness, mischievous spirit, laughter added vigor to my life, made me not to turn back to any of life challenges. Helped me to set the standards which are seldom surpassed even in the worst of situations where only darkness dwelled.

Your subtle guidance made me everything I am capable of, which I was not sure myself. Love has transformed me beyond my wildest dreams, where dependency only on oneself is the major break-through.

I changed my wardrobes, I changed my vehicles, I changed my hair style, life style, I started putting life to everything I do.

When I transformed, whole world looked afresh. It did not matter to me anymore, whether you were near to me or not. Changes made outside has caused a permanent marks on my inner self.

My appearance changed, voice turned magnetic, I became unprejudiced. It reminds me of Hafiz quote. ...

'Even after all this time, the sun never says to the earth 'you own me', look what happens with a love like that it lights up the whole sky'

At last I was myself.

If anything I wish to happen in my life again, it would be those moments being with you. Happy Women's Day!