

Petrichor!

Live By Heart! , Naveen Chandra R, June 2017!

June days has joyous radiance of milder sun rays, so soothing that I forget there is office to catch up!

When I pass through the places I had frequented years back, I find everything as it was, the roads, trees, hills and most of them. Thoughts I used to carry while on those trips were distinguish. While I recollect those, I wonder time has all the mechanism to carry the thoughts along with the space.

Each time I had my own reasons not to look at the beauty, nature used to offer along with.

Beauty lies everywhere and way to find them is by beautifying our heart. It's immersed in every movement and in all expressions of nature. Each tries to maximize its joyous presence when their season comes.

A flower, with liveliness it says, 'I am doing my best'. It can be felt in the smallest of small flower to red roses all carry similar feelings, even bigger trees or small bushes.

Living life with the conviction that we are doing our best while believing each moment has its own nectar. These nectar gives way to happiness till next expressive moment of life, all wonderfully interwoven.

Whilst ordinary minds are filled with chaos, if and buts, thoughts of profit and losses, it would never be able understand fully. We are so immersed with the 'creatures' we invented to make our life comfortable. Accumulating every comfort, while eternally ignoring emptiness feeling at heart. Making unable to open up easily with any one, gauging what he or she might think.

I discovered holding on to good things, actually blocks best things to come in life. As financial guru Robert Kiyosaki simply puts; for many of us job itself blocks one becoming rich. It requires tremendous degree of self-satisfaction to give up on things.

When we were born life was complete, we learnt the way of dealing with it from our mind. Now any amount of rain, thunder, mist or dew drops on flowers does not energize us nor appeals to us. We may not even able to notice its presence.

I remember poetic lines...expressing human self beautifully...

"I shall pass this way but once; any good that I can do or any kindness I can show to any human being; let me do it now. Let me not defer nor neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again." - Etienne de Grellet.

Life is delightful when continuous rejuvenation of body and mind happens. With every progress of outer world, inner progress is necessary till to the point of saying, this is enough, let me find my true self.

That's where life starts rejuvenating itself; beauty can then be felt with closed eyes, melody can be heard in silence and eternal joyous feel at heart for no apparent reasons. One such attempt with the below poetry. .. !

Beloved, rain!

*First rain, evening breeze, brings fragrance of Elle's & fresh hairs,
Reflects joyous moments,
tears rolls with droplets,
makes me sweat at sun set.*

*Ponders me was
It real now or then?*

*Wetting my skin making me feel like caged up in body Distant away..., pray liberate like that of rain drops;
at least their waiting is over.*

*Warmth of Petrichor, carries me nearer lightning reveals your shadow
I turn around to embrace,
Find it, melts into my soul.*

*Sound of thunder awakens
engrosses me in smile...*

It's real, then and now!!
